There are many different types of modeling categories. Each modeling category has different requirements. The main modeling categories are:

- Editorial / Fashion
- Commercial / Print
- Fitness
- Plus Size
- Kids
- Real People

Modeling is open to both male and female models and people of any ethnics or national background. While some modeling categories can have very specific height or weight requirements others can be more accessible. There are models of all ages, up to 60+.The two main modeling categories are Editorial/Fashion (i.e. runway and fashion E- magazine models) and Commercial. Editorial/Fashion has very strict requirements for height and weight, Commercial is a very broad category with requirements that are not as strict, there are all sorts of commercial models. Basic height requirements for the two main modeling categories, Commercial and Editorial/Fashion modeling usually are in these ranges,

Commercial Modeling:

Female:

- 5'6 to 5'11

Male:

- 5'9 to 6'2

Editorial / Fashion modeling:

Female:

- 5'8 to 6'0
- 90lb- 120lb

Male:

- 5'9 to 6'2
- 120lb- 170lb

Plus-Size modeling:

- 5'8 to 6'2
- size 10-18

Keep in mind these are just general guidelines and are not absolute.

While there are some exceptions, in most cases female commercial models have to be at least 5'6 or 5'7 and usually no more than 5'11 tall (for male models at least 5'9). If you are 5'5 or under your chances of success are very limited in comparison to taller models.
